Dominion Government

COMES TO THE RESCUE

The news in Monday's papers, that the dominion government had taken quick action in relieving the great grain blockade, will give general satisfaction.

Last week a special bill amending the railway act, was brought up in the house, dealing with this question, which was then rushed through the commons and senate, and acting under the authority of this bill, the board of railway commissioners have issued a judgement dealing with the situation in the Goose Lake district, along this line, where conditions are worse than elsewhere. Under the terms of this judgment the C. N. R. is ordered to provide 1,200 cars and 39 additional locomotives for the immediate movement of the grain in this district, either to the government terminal elevator at Saskatoon or the transfer tracks at that point, where it is to be taken over by the G. T. P. for carriage eastwards. The C. N. R. is ordered to maintain this additional equipment on the line serving the Goose Lake district until the condition is relieved. The judgement leaves it to the two railways concerned to agree to the proportional rate for the carriage of the grain.

Perhaps it may not be generally known, but our Colliholme U. F. A. has the credit of taking the initiatory steps in bringing this question before the federal government. It may be remembered that the seriousness of the situation along Goose Lake line was brought before the annual convention of the U. F. A. recently held at Calgary, in a series of resolutions from the Colliholme local U. F. A., and presented by J. A. McColl, M. P. P., the delegate chosen from that district. These resolutions were discussed at the convention, and a strong resolution passed by that body endorsing the resolutions brought in by the Colliholme U. F. A. and our local member was selected by the convention to interview the dominion government, which was immediately put into execution by Mr. McColl leaving at once for Ottawa. Associated with him was Chairman McGill of the railway commission and two or three others. Mr. McColl reported to the editor of this great family journal that Sir Robert Borden, and other members of the govern-

"REVELATIONS!"

TWO DIFFERENT VARIETIES

A NUMBER of prophets have arisen these days, predicting the end of the world is near at hand, and that millennium is soon to begin. Interpretations from Revelations are used freely to prove their point.

The present stupendous war may, perhaps, lend some color to their arguments, and "Revelation" is accumulating staggering evidence to help their theories.

That's one kind of revelation.

But the present-day "Revelations" of government graft in the Western provinces looks as if it would be ending of some of these political parties. One of the governments gets it death some short time ago, and it will not be surprising if others get their death warrants in the near future.

The old and oft-repeated saying, "Money is the root of all evil," seems to be getting its inings in present-day politics—and, if fact, in almost everything else.

Apparently, there are quite a few modern Judas' who are willing to sell their reputations and all that a man should hold dear for the "thirty pieces of silver." The parties who approach and supply the funds to debauch our public men should be punished as much—if not more—than the men who accept their reputation-smashing bribes.

Legislators are not the only men who are guilty of grafting, ancient the charges of graft with shoe contracts, remounts, ammunition contracts, &c.

When will our public men not only recognise that honesty is the best policy, but that honesty is right?

ment, promised to do all in their power to take steps to relieve the situation, which they realized was of such a serious nature that it required immediate action.

How well Sir Robert Borden and his government made good is seen by the result of the above order. It must be gratifying to the Colliholme U. F. A. and to all concerned that their efforts have been crowned with success, and that, too, without any delay.

And now you will see things move along this line presently, thanks to the Colliholme U. F. A. and the strong case made to the dominion government by Mr. McColl

Irrigation in Alberta

The Experience of Irrigation Farmers in Wet Years

An unusually wet season such as 1915 naturally raises the question, "How do irrigated crops in the large irrigation area in Southern Alberta fare under such conditions?" Numerous theories have been advanced as to results under such conditions, but the testimony of the threshing machine, and this seems to indicate that even in a wet year, irrigation is at least no disadvantage, and irrigated crops are at least as heavy and mature as early as those grown without irrigation.

As an example may be quoted the experience of Mr. R. P. Hansen, who farms a short distance east of Lethbridge, Alberta. All the stubble land on his farm was irrigated in the fall of 1914 as a preparation for the 1915 crop, the water being applied from September 20 to October 10. During the month of October and early in November, this land was plowed to a depth of five inches and was left in that condition until the spring of 1915, when it was harrowed twice about the middle of April. It was then double disced, harrowed and leveled. It was sown with wheat at the rate of two and a half bushels to the acre with oats, the ground being seeded to a depth of three inches. This field consisted of 30 acres, and when the oats were threshed in the fall of 1915 the yield was 97 bushels, or an average of 101 bushels to the acre.

Land on the same farm on which barley was sown was similarly irrigated in the fall of 1914, and was plowed in the spring of 1915 to a depth of six inches, the area plowed each day being harrowed the same evening. The barley yielded an average of 65 bushels to the acre.

Although neither oats nor barley were seeded in the spring of 1915, both crops were heavily fall irrigated and received the heavy rainfall of 1915, yet the crops were not injured by early date with the yields above stated.

On the whole the net result of a season such as 1915 in Southern Alberta, seems to prove that the soil is immensely fertile and that irrigation is applied at the right time, and that irrigation of grain crops is at least no disadvantage, and in fact, whereas it guarantees the farmer against loss from drought in any ordinary year.

Another Full Granary

Conditions in the West Appear Very Favorable For a Good Crop in the Coming Season

Production is now fully recognized as the basic element in the strength, and the report that farms in the great wheat belt are in exceptionally good condition to receive the crop next year will be welcomed throughout the Dominion. Even if a repetition of last year's phenomenal crop is not expected, the indications for an abundant yield will strengthen and sustain public confidence. This is highly important. While there should be no encouragement to extravagance or waste, it is desirable and necessary that business and productive industry should proceed, encouraged by an assurance of prosperous conditions. Fear of depression will bring depression in war time as in peace, and needless shrinkages will be avoided by a confident outlook.

The ground is in an excellent condition to receive the crop, and the farmers are exceptionally well prepared for the work of seedling. It is the statement of Mr. George Lane, of Calgary, whose farming and ranching operations are probably more extensive than those of any individual farmer in the Canadian west, in an interview published recently that he had not, in thirty years' experience, seen the ground in better shape to receive the crop than it is now. He should allay fears arising from the common assumption that a crop like that of the past season could not be followed, and will not be repeated until processes of restoration have been effective. The farmers have a crop of good seed and abundance of everything required for the opening season. The ground is in the best of shape. If weather conditions are favorable in spring and an early start can be made the country's granary may again be overflowing.

The west is not unreasonably sensitive about advice so tendered from the east regarding mixed farming, so it is gratifying that a representative western farmer should tell, with evident satisfaction, of the live stock output and the prosperous condition of this branch of farming. We may intensify the need for workers, but may also, with governmental courage, facilitate the work of the farmer, not even so, but eventually.

The words are worth remembering by every Briton as well as by every Frenchman. This war is lengthening out beyond our expectations. Much sacrifice has yet to be endured by all the allied nations but it is the quality of that endurance that will win in the end. The conflict is a conflict of nations as well as of armies; it will be won by the nations that know best how to suffer, to wait and to die.

General Joffre is quietly confident. Lord Kitchener has no doubts about the outcome. The allied forces are determined not to defeat. It is for the peoples behind the armies to emulate their confidence—Vancouver World.

Not Soon but Eventually. General Joffre has no illusions as to the length of the war. "If only the civilians will hold firm," he told a railwayman's delegation of officers two ago, "that is the essential thing. If Frenchmen keep steady we shall have victory, not immediately, not even soon, but eventually."

German Hopes Gone

It is not likely that any German expects now that Germany will win this war. The German army have performed prodigies of valor, their trained skill and efficiency has been the marvel of the world, and they have been able to destroy the French armies and reach Paris in the early weeks of the war was doubtless due to their leadership. Perhaps the great French victory at the battle of the Marne and the British victory at Ypres will be seen to have been the two decisive battles of the war in the deepest sense, completely nullifying all the German victories in Russia and in the Balkans.—Rocheester Herald.

Still Singing Their Praises

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS CURED HIS RHEUMATISM

Mr. D. A. Brotherton Tells How His Rheumatism Disappeared Over a Year Ago and Has Never Come Back.

Victoria, B.C., (Special).—Cured of rheumatism over a year ago by using Dodd's Kidney Pills, Mr. D. A. Brotherton, a well known resident of this place, is still singing the praises of the great Canadian kidney remedy.

"I was troubled with rheumatism in my left hand, which would shift to my right and then to my shoulder," Mr. Brotherton says. "It was very annoying and painful at times, but I never gave up. I quit the liniment I was using and took six boxes of them. The rheumatism disappeared. That was over a year ago, but it has not returned."

"I know Dodd's Kidney Pills are good for kidney trouble both in my own case and through others who have used them." Rheumatism is caused by uric acid in the blood. If you cure your kidneys by using Dodd's Kidney Pills they will drain all the uric acid out of the blood and there can be no rheumatism.

Canada's Vision

The Canadians have come to realize as never before the nature of a commonwealth and the great part they play in it.

The superficial idealism which the Canadian has inherited hitherto his conscience and sense with has been dispelled by a finer kind of idealism that progress is often a matter of stern duty and sacrifice, and not a phase of fatalism.

Canada has taken up the load. She is sending her sons to suffer and die in the battlefields of Europe and Asia Minor. She is raising money for loans and war funds. She has given her best, but is preserving and perpetuating a society while Canada, yet one within which she can give her hopes, ambitions, and service—Buffalo News.

What We Owe to the Farmers. Probably no other part of the empire has greater services been rendered to the cause of civilization during the past year than have been rendered by the farmers of Alberta. This was the gist of the message of greeting extended to the United Farmers of Alberta by Hon. James A. Lougheed, minister without portfolio in the Dominion cabinet, and with this appreciation there will be general agreement. The farming class of Alberta has not only given hundreds of men to the Canadian army that is now on active service, but it has also produced the greatest crop that this province has known at a time when it was most needed. Their services to the empire has been of incalculable value, and it is well understood that they will continue to devote their best efforts to aid the cause of the empire until the period of stress is ended.—Calgary News-Telegram.

An Easy Test

Growing Plants Good Indicators of Healthful Conditions

"Grow plants in your living room," advises a medical authority. And if they won't grow there, that's all the more reason for making them grow— for the sake of the plants, but for the sake of the people. The point is that plants are better indicators of good air, or at least better indicators of it, than people are. In a house that is ill-ventilated, or too hot or too cold, or too damp or too dry, flowers will not thrive. Stale air particularly makes them wilt and wither. And their withering is an unfailing sign that the human occupants of that house are withering likewise, during the time they spend indoors. Where the flowers do not thrive, men and women and children will not thrive. And so, if you succeed in keeping plants green and beautiful in your home, that is better evidence than all the thermometers and hygrometers can give that the home is healthful for you and your family. The same authority adds that it would be a good idea to grow potted plants in school rooms, offices and factories. If they die when they have proper water and soil, then it's evident that something ought to be done about the air. It's the simplest and easiest test.—Vancouver Province.

Hosiery Prices Advance

Those in America who insist on imported hosiery will have to pay more in the future, says a report from England. So will those who fancy Scotch material for their clothing. Scotch woolen and hosiery manufacturers announce a substantial increase in price owing to the scarcity of raw wool and dyes.

From Australia also comes the news of a shortage of Australian supplies, due to the inability to secure tonnage. Thus, factory men are not overworked. There are bright prospects for the coming season.

FOOD FACTS

What an M.D. Learned

A prominent physician was through a food experience which he makes public: "It was my own experience that first led me to advocate Grape-Nuts food, and I also know from having prescribed it to convalescents and other weak patients that this food is a wonderful restorer and restorer of nerve and brain tissue, as well as muscle. It improves the digestion and patients gain just as I did in strength and weight, very rapidly."

"I was in such a low state that I had to give up my work entirely and go to the mountains, but two months there did not improve me; in fact I was not quite as well as when I left home. My food did not sustain me and it became plain that I must change."

"I began to use Grape-Nuts and in two weeks I could walk a mile, and in five weeks returned to my normal and practice, taking up hard work again. Since that time I have felt as well and strong as I ever did in my life."

"As a physician who seeks to help all sufferers I consider it a duty to make these facts public. Grape-Nuts. Trial to days on Grape-Nuts when the regular food does not seem to sustain the body will work wonders. There's a reason." Name given by Canadian Postman Co., Windsor, Ont.

Year of Progress

Summed up as a twelvemonth of achievement for the prohibition cause, the year 1914 takes a unique place. All over Canada the agitation against the liquor traffic awoke to renewed life and activity. Everywhere the temper element in the community answered the call of duty. In every province the stirring up of public sentiment to fight against the great evil of the age has been remarkable.—Vancouver World.

Winter Hard on Baby

The winter season is a hard one on the baby. He is more or less confined to stuffy, badly ventilated rooms. It is so often stony that the mother does not get him out the fresh air as often as she should. He catches colds which rocks his little system; his stomach and bowels get out of order and he becomes peevish and cross. To guard against this the mother should keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house. They regulate the stomach and bowels and break up colds. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"What?" As you clocks stopped as well?

"Rather!" was the grim reply. "I've a watch, three sons, two clocks, an Iowa man all doing now! Hepatitis, indeed!"—Spore Moments.

The Land Problem

We cannot make farmers out of people by resolution, or by merely giving them the land. We must help them to farm profitably; we must cheapen the cost of production, find markets and establish convenient communications for them. Above all, we must subvert the political shark, the land shark, an every other kind of shark who stands in the way of genuine development. Only the government of a country can do these things, and unless a constructive policy with this end in view is carried out all the resolutions and discussions of the Canadian Association will be of no use.—Vancouver Times.

RULES OF HEALTH Daily Movement of the Bowels.

If every child in every school in this great country could be taught this one rule of health in such a way as to appreciate its value, and live up to it, how it would abound a multitude of pains and aches would disappear, and Canada would be known as a country where people live to a great age.

When you call the doctor his first question refers to the condition of the bowels, and his first medicine is intended to ensure the activity of these organs. Whether you have a cold or appendicitis, kidney disease or rheumatism, there are poisons in the system which must be removed, and which could not have lingered to cause trouble if the bowels had been healthful and active.

For this reason we claim that the First and Most Important Rule of Health is "Daily Movement of the Bowels."

If the bowels can be kept in healthful action at all times there is little need for either doctor or medicines, and about nine-tenths of the annoying and dangerous ills of life are avoided.

The ideal corrective treatment for the bowels is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Not only because of their promptness of action, but also because they immediately cleanse the sluggish liver, and by so doing cure constipation.

The bile which is filtered from the blood by an active liver is Nature's cathartic, so if you can keep the liver right there will be no sluggishness in the action of the bowels. Keep the liver and kidneys healthy and active by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and you will prevent and cure constipation, and thereby avoid a multitude of ills.

A VERY SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

The social given for the Red Cross, under the auspices of the Chinook Women's Institute, was voted by one and all as the "best yet held in Chinook. The hall was filled with a happy loyal crowd, who thoroughly enjoyed the evening. In the guessing contest A. St. Clair Nicholson won the prize—a very handsome knife—with eighteen correctly named articles out of a total of twenty. The programme was of a high order, and the short sketch, "Betsey Baker," was a very laughable affair. Chinook is to be congratulated upon its per excellent musical talent, and also its dramatic talent. The dainty refreshments served by the ladies was fully appreciated. The proceeds amounted to $50.00.

THE GREATEST BATTLESHIP IN UNITED STATES NAVY

Photos by American Press Association.

1.—Deck view of the battleship Oklahoma. 2.—The dreadnaught steaming toward the Brooklyn navy yard immediately after her completion. 3.—One of the fighting towers. 4.—Battery of five fourteen-inch guns. 5.—Another deck view.

It is not possible at this time to get a line on the comparative strength of the navies of the world, as neither England, Germany, France nor Russia has made known the number of vessels that have been added to its fleet since the outbreak of the war. There is no doubt that the strength of the different navies has been greatly increased, and it is said that this is especially true in England's case.

There is little possibility, however, that any foreign nation has built a battleship that equals in size and equipment the new United States superdreadnaught Oklahoma. This battleship cost approximately $15,000,000. She has a displacement of 27,500 tons and an armament of ten 14-inch guns, twenty-one 5-inch guns, four 8-pounders, two 1-pounders and two 8-inch fieldpieces, two machine guns and 21-inch torpedo tubes. Her length is 275 feet, with a beam of 34 feet, the portion below the water level being 28 feet 6 inches. The battleship is manned by 63 officers and 1,000 men. The contract called for a speed of 20½ knots an hour.

The Oklahoma is fitted only for the burning of oil fuel, and for this reason a there is a vast saving in the space usually required for coal bunkers. For this reason also only one smokestack is required, and she forms a striking contrast in appearance with the other dreadnaughts now in service in the United States navy.

The Oklahoma represents to a greater degree than any of her predecessors the united experience and thought of the various branches of the naval service, and the officers of both line and staff unite in the belief that she is the most powerful vessel yet completed.

The following table, covering the Oklahoma with the other modern American battleships in commission, shows the steady progression in battleship construction in this country:

Ship.	Tonnage.	Guns.	Laid down.
South Carolina and Michigan	10,000	8 14-inch	1890
Delaware and North Dakota	10,000	10 14-inch	1907
Utah and Florida	12,000	10 14-inch	1909
Arizona and Wisconsin	20,000	12 14-inch	1910
New York and Texas	27,500	10 14-inch	1911
Oklahoma and Nevada	27,500	10 14-inch	1912

The weight of the projectiles fired in broadside from these twelve ships would be 124,000 pounds, of which the forty 14-inch guns would hurl 56,000 and the eight 12-inch guns 68,000 pounds.

The principal interest of the new ship lies in her great defensive power. Not only does she carry a much greater weight of armor than has been carried by any ship built, but the armor has been disposed to greater advantage. The chief duty of a warship is to maintain her stability and her mobility and at all times present a completely protected emplacement for her guns. In other words, she must not only carry her guns into the fight, but she must nurse them through all its savage hammering so effectively that they shall be able to pour shells into the enemy until they have silenced or sent him to the bottom.

In the case of the Oklahoma the armor belt is thirteen and one-half inches thick and the casing of the barbettes thirteen inches. In the turret the armor varies from nine to eighteen inches in thickness, and the armor of the conning tower and tube is sixteen inches. The covering of the gun deck is three inches thick and that of the protective deck two inches. An important feature of the side armor of the Oklahoma is the way in which the plates are attached to the ships. In the older ships the armor is arranged horizontally in two strips, with a continuous horizontal seam, which is slightly above the water line between the upper and lower strips. This arrangement presents a continuous point of weakness near the water line at a most vulnerable point. In the new ship the armor plates are laid vertically and extend the whole depth of the belt.

America May Have Greatest Navy.

It is not impossible that America will have the greatest navy in the world after the present war. Should there be several decisive sea battles and a large number of German and British vessels be sunk it would place America first. England has suffered more naval losses than any other country, having lost a total of forty-four warships, with a total tonnage of 281,641. Germany has lost sixty-nine vessels, having a total tonnage of 283,294.

Principal losses of British naval vessels to date are as follows:

All the Nation Joins In Honoring Memory of William McKinley on Anniversary of His Birth

was elected over William J. Bryan in the November election. During his term the United States engaged in war with Spain and at its close entered on a new era of expansion. In 1900 McKinley was re-elected and re-elected, he taking the oath for the second time on March 4, 1901.

Accompanied by Mrs. McKinley and a group of near relatives and friends, President McKinley, after spending a vacation at his home in Canton, went to Buffalo on Sept. 4 to visit the Pan-American exposition. While holding a public reception in the Temple of Music on Sept. 6 the president was twice shot by Leon Colquhoun, a Polish anarchist. He lingered for a week, retaining consciousness to the last. Advised that the end was near, he responded: "Good, it's good. It is God's way; his will be done, not ours." William McKinley was married to Kate Saxton, daughter of James and Katherine Saxton, in Canton on Jan. 25, 1871. They were the parents of two daughters, Katherine and Ida, both of whom died in infancy. Mrs. McKinley died on May 28, 1907.

Now in process of construction near his birthplace at Niles there is one of the most magnificent memorials to be found anywhere in the country. The memorial was provided for by an act of congress signed by President Taft March 4, 1906, and was the first act that he signed as president. An association was formed to carry out the work, and Colonel Joseph C. Butler, Jr., of Youngstown, the boyhood friend and companion of Mr. McKinley, was chosen to take active charge as president.

The memorial building when completed will be valued at more than $200,000 and will stand in a beautiful park donated by the town of Niles, valued at $50,000 additional. The personal relics associated with the career of Mr. McKinley will be here assembled. There will be a library, a relic room, a public auditorium and headquarters for the Grand Army of the Republic and Spanish War veterans. The cornerstone of this memorial was laid on Nov. 20, 1915.

Concerning the memorial former President Taft said: "William McKinley was a man whom it was a great pleasure and inspiration to duty, his gentleness, his clear optimism, all endeared him to the people who came into personal touch with him as well as to the general public, who acquired their knowledge of him from his long service to the country. He was a man who rose to the exigency and whose capacity and greatness impressed themselves upon every one, even his intimates, as the crisis in the country's welfare developed. The demands of the Spanish war and the enormous responsibilities that followed it called out his innate abilities and seemed to expand them in a marvelous way."

Former President Roosevelt said: "Most cordially I wish to reaffirm what I said at a banquet in Canton, O., on Jan. 27, 1901, which was held in honor of the birthday of the late president: 'It was given to President McKinley to take the foremost place in our political life at a time when our country was brought face to face with problems more momentous than any whose solution we have ever attempted, save only in the Revolution and in the civil war, and it was under his leadership that the nation solved these mighty problems all right. Therefore he shall stand in the eyes of history not merely as the first man of his generation, but as among the greatest figures in our national life, coming second only to the men of the two great crises in which the Union was founded and preserved.'"

President Wilson said: "I am sure I am expressing only the feeling of the whole country when I say that such a memorial as is being erected to him by your association expresses the deep affection and affectionate esteem not only of the people of Ohio, but of the whole nation, for a president who did his duty with conscientious solicitude and who lost his life in his performance."

"Cyclone" Wears a Collar

"Cyclone" Davis, representative from Texas, has succumbed to the whims of civilization. He startled his colleagues by appearing on the floor of the house the other day wearing a blue suit and a calico shirt decorated with pink flowers.

Davis explained his "change of front" as follows:

"Ever since I came to Washington my wife wept daily because she was dubbed the 'collared congressman.' This morning when I had finished dressing with my motherly hands in place she began to cry. I inquired the reason, and she explained to me. I purchased a collar and a shirt. 'I don't know what my constituents will say when they hear about this, but anyhow I am going to keep peace in the family, even if I have to break my vow. This is the first collar I have worn in more than twenty years.'"

COLLHOLME

Collholme U. F. A. are expecting to celebrate the 17th inst. by holding a big meeting. J. E. Blore of Craigmyle will be the speaker of the evening. A good time expected. Everybody welcome.

One of our neighbors has been rather unfortunate of late. He hired a well digger to dig in a 60 ft hole which he started some eighteen months ago. But fearing a submarine might come scooping along and blow up the whole concern, he stopped the work on the well and dismissed the well digger.

We are all pleased to see Mr. and Mrs. Finley Robertson back with us again.
